

What is a Continuing Care Retirement Community?

What are you looking for during your retirement years? Would you be interested in a fulfilling lifestyle right now along with a plan and security for your future? If so, a continuing care retirement community (CCRC) could be the right choice.

CCRCs offer a unique mix of housing, hospitality and healthcare all in one convenient location. As a CCRC resident at Crestwood Manor, you maintain your own private apartment and continue to live independently. At the same time, you benefit from a range of services and amenities that make life easier, such as restaurant-style meals, concierge services and weekly housekeeping. At Crestwood Manor, our all-inclusive CCRC aims to offer everything you need to live the best life you possibly can.

CCRC: Your Best Option for Senior Living

A CCRC offers a senior living community with a variety of levels of care, all conveniently located on the same campus. That means you're able to easily transition to different levels of care should the need arise without having to worry about additional moves, so your need will be taken care of now and in the future. Crestwood Manor's variety of living options include independent living, personal care services and skilled nursing.

As a resident, you'll have the choice of spacious one- or two-bedroom apartment floor plans designed for comfortable living. Plus, onsite activities and amenities are always available for your use and enjoyment. From fitness classes in our wellness center to a well-stocked library or exploring a new hobby in our woodworking shop, your days will be filled with the activities you love most. You'll find a renewed sense of purpose with activities designed to enhance your physical, mental and spiritual growth.

Our CCRC offers an all-inclusive senior living lifestyle. And, all expenses are conveniently covered in the monthly fee. Your fee includes:

- Spacious living options
